DATE: January 19, 2009

TO: Customers and Sales Associates

FROM: The Leavitt Corporation

SUBJECT: Safety of all Teddie Peanut Butter and all Private Label Peanut Butter Products Produced By The Leavitt Corporation

Please be advised that all peanut butter produced in our facility under our Teddie label and all our private labels are 100% safe, wholesome, nutritious and not associated with the current recall involving the Peanut Corporation of America in Blakely Georgia.

The FDA has issued a statement stating that peanut butter sold in supermarkets in retail sizes is not subject to this voluntary recall. Once again, the FDA is only focusing on peanut butter products processed specifically from the Peanut Corporation of America factory in Georgia and other food products that have used their peanut butter as an ingredient in cookies, crackers and other baked goods.

It is important to note that The Leavitt Corporation has never used peanut butter or peanut products produced at the Peanut Corporation of America facility for any of our products at anytime.

Additionally, The Leavitt Corporation routinely conducts microbiological tests specifically for salmonella to insure that our Teddie and private label peanut butter products meet the highest standards for food safety.

We produce all our own peanut butter controlling the manufacturing process every step of the way from roasting, grinding and packaging. We do not use peanut butter or peanut paste already processed from outside sources.

All our Teddie Peanut Butter and private label products can be bought and consumed with the highest level of confidence for food safety.
